Thanks for informing me. Do we know where the one in the biscuit tin went? I believe there was one in one of the old broken Dell's and one in Jeff's speakers and one near GB's desk which I found the other day. I think these need to be removed.

Hi Jase

FYI needed to replace the paper shredder in the office which didnt work to adhere to GDPR compliance. After unscrewing, unglueing and cable tie cutting the reason for it not being able to be moved (or used) was a camera hidden inside.

Just for the record to head of IT.
