Mr Busfield,

It has come to my attention that a forged signature of mine exists on company paperwork. I attach a copy of the signature in question such that it will jog your memory. I am confident this was you as you have established a history of fraud and misrepresentation. I note the date was printed where as I always use cursive text to date contracts that have my wet signature.

The purpose of this email is to:

- 1./ Assert the motives and thoughts that lead to this forgery
- 2./ Highlight how this concerns me against the backdrop of changes recently made on Companies House for companies intrinsically connected to yourself.

Previously, there have been several occasions where you have been caught performing acts of theft and fraudulent misrepresentation.

I note company accounts for The JET Group Services Ltd and The JET Group Ltd are outstanding due to delays incurred by your actions. It is on record that you have admitted this.

I note the accounts for GCV Ltd finally got filed in recent days. I note Versa (the company accountants) seemed unwilling to have their name used against such documents. Mr Dimitov, unlike yourself, is unable to prepare statutory accounts, leading me to believe they were done by yourself. Yet you purport to others that you are too ill to do accounts for both JET companies. Mr Turner of Versa recently confirmed with me that recent events have made Versa reluctant to be further involved with accounts for related companies, including The JET Group Services Ltd.

I note the figures on the accounts filed for GCV Ltd are not a reflection of money passing through the company during the accounting period in question. I suspect this might coincide as GCV was probably not VAT registered? It explains why there are no invoices from GCV Ltd. Bank statements suggest Mr Voce is the named recipient of these funds. However, banking audits show you initiated these transfers for all companies (The JET Group Services Ltd, Real-time Analysis & News Ltd, Trade The News Ltd).

I ask you openly to engage as to why there is an omission of nearly £331'000 on GCV accounts - transferred from Real-time Analysis & News Ltd on the 3rd July 2017? I am not alone in my concerns over money transferred to GCV Ltd, be it through Real-time Analysis & News Ltd, Trade The News Ltd, or The JET Group Services Ltd. Consequently, I have copied in Ms Pryse from HMRC whom I believe shares these concerns. I'm sure she will be grateful for your direct answers.

Separately Mr Patel has raised concerns that Trade The News Ltd accounts.

Previously, I have been vocal over the potential risk that you would concoct fraudulent accounts. These latest filings for GCV Ltd and Trade The News Ltd now cement these fears.

If you aggregate my concerns relating to accounts, illicit actions undertaken by yourself on Companies House and the fraudulent use of my signature on company paperwork, it is clear why this latest evidence is disturbing. Any attempt to file fraudulent accounts for The JET Group Ltd on Companies House will be investigated.

I expect a reply to the questions I have asked in this email by close of business Tuesday 16th July 2019. Afterwards, it gets reported to the authorities.

Should it emerge that I discover further fraudulent misrepresentation attempts by yourself and connected parties, I shall seek the most robust civil and criminal remedies at my disposal as it is apparent you are pervasively continuing to defraud and harm others.

I also copy in other RAN shareholders (direct and indirect), who ultimately are the true shareholders of both JET companies for transparency over governance and shareholder disputes. I'm sure you'll appreciate this, given the struggle experienced by minority RAN Ltd shareholders at the end of 2015 being left in the dark over the rights issue.

Jase.
