Hi George,

Yes makes complete sense.

If people can ensure invoices are made out to the right company. As in JET or RAN during this transition period.

With access to the temp. bank we can make sure everything is accounted for.

I am literally awaiting Lloyds bank accounts to finalise Worldpay, AMEX. Merchant services have been applied for and are in place.

VAT should be in any day also.

Just Lloyds bank as usual.

Kindest regards,

Michael

Subject: JET PAYMENT PROCESSING & BANK

All, Jason,

I suggested that Michael / Billings are given the details of the JET Account and Card so that they can process payments – i.e. an invoice comes in and gets sent to Billings as normal. Michael / Billings await for two approvals from myself and Jason – To Confirm that appropriate payment and due from JET not RAN etc.

This replicates existing RAN process but will work for JET pending new bank account details coming in for you at JET (Michael any News?).

However, I can't authorise as ultimately it will be JETS bank details that are getting shared. Jason – if you are agreeable to this then please can you and Anita reply to confirm and send through card details and online account logins.

Michael – does this work for you?

Albie – make sense as a temporary solution?

Thanks

G
